

a full hour of interviews with men closest to Victory in Europe

Sunday on WTOP-TV

How do we stand today—ten years after VE-Day?

Who would know best? Former President Harry Truman? Former Ambassador to Russia Averell Harriman? General Omar Bradley? The voice of the GI, Bill Mauldin? A child born on VE-Day?

Next Sunday, May 8th, the tenth anniversary of Hitler's defeat, your Washington Post and Times Herald will bring their memories and views into your living room. Key personalities, each of whom had a major part in the Victory in Europe and in the events that grew from it, will be interviewed by Washington Post and Times Herald writers and editors. Philip L. Graham, Publisher of The Washington Post and Times Herald, will be narrator of this documentary program. It will be a full-hour television show that promises to make history on its own.

If you are interested in the world you live in . . . if you are interested in the world your children will live in . . . you will be watching.

VE+10

Produced and directed by Larry Beckerman

Sunday, May 8th

2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

WTOP-TV Channel 9

brought to you as a public service by your
 WASHINGTON POST and TIMES HERALD

Averell Harriman
 . . . Ambassador to Russia when its policy shifted . . . interviewed by Managing Editor J. R. Wiggins.

Harry Truman
 . . . New President who proclaimed the victory . . . interviewed by White House Correspondent Edward T. Folliard.

Bill Mauldin
 . . . cartoonist for the GIs who slugged it out . . . interviewed by Cartoonist Herblock.

John Foster Dulles
 . . . Foreign Affairs adviser who inherited the problems . . . interviewed by Columnist Stewart Alsop.

Dwight Eisenhower
 . . . Supreme Commander who smashed the "invincible" Wehrmacht . . . Questioned at news conference by White House Correspondent Edward T. Folliard.

Omar Bradley
 . . . Commanded more field troops than any other general in history . . . interviewed by Editor of the Editorial Page Robert Estabrook.

Carl Spaatz
 . . . Commander of U. S. Air Forces . . . launched 15 "negotiations of bombs" . . . interviewed by Cartoonist Milton Caniff.

Alan Kirk
 . . . U. S. Naval Commander of the cross-channel invasion of Europe . . . interviewed by Reporter Edward Ryan.

Walter Bedell Smith
 . . . Ike's Chief of Staff . . . took surrender from Nazis in red schoolhouse . . . interviewed by State Department Correspondent Chalmers M. Roberts.

Vannevar Bush
 . . . Head of American science in war . . . overseer of the A-Bomb . . . interviewed by Assistant Managing Editor Alfred Friendly.

Werner von Braun
 . . . Father of Germany's V-2 . . . now United States guided missile expert . . . interviewed by Military Affairs Reporter John Norris.

Mark Berch
 . . . he has lived a whole lifetime since V-E Day, his birthday . . . interviewed by School Reporter Jeanne Rogers.